

Seminars

The Alfred Wegener Institute, the Institute for Environmental Physics and the Jacobs University started a series of common seminars, enhancing the interaction between the three institutions. Each semester, a one-day's "Blockseminar" is held, giving scientists and PhD-students the opportunity to show their results to a recent common topic.

9 February 2009: "Physical and biological processes at oceanic interfaces and their role in global climate"

2 July 2008: "Ice, Ocean and their Interaction"

15 October 2007: "Our Changing Climate"